Continue and increase USDA Foods support for the School Breakfast Program. The 2019 Agriculture Appropriations Bill contains $20 million for breakfast commodities. Expanding this program will feed more students, help schools fight costs and support farmers.

Oppose any effort to fund school meal programs under block grants. School meals depend on protected entitlement status and guaranteed federal reimbursements for each meal served, to ensure students in need have access to free- and reduced-price meals and to support the health and achievement of all students—not just those students fortunate enough to be born in areas of economic stability and food security.
